

DLGS – Dresden Leibniz Graduate School
Demographic Change and Regional Development Strategies

Summer School No. 3
Gartenstadt Dresden-Hellerau

Programme (as of September 8th, 2008)

Date, Venue, Attendees

- 15th-18th September 2008 (see programme next page)
- Werkstätten, Dresden-Hellerau, Raum Riemerschmid
- Attendees: PhD Students, Management Board, Senior Researchers, Invited Guests / External Experts (see table below)

Aims of the Summer School

- To provide the opportunity for PhD students to present proposals on research design and methods (see last page for the working title of the proposals)
- To discuss the research designs and the chosen methods with the Management Board of the DLGS and external experts
- To include external experts on selected topics
- To foster collaboration within the DLGS and between the DLGS and other institutions

Structure of the Summer School 2008

The Summer School comprises some preparatory steps and different elements:

- All attendees receive all research proposals / papers of PhD students in advance (on Monday, September, 8th, 2008)
- It is planned to use 75 min. to present and discuss one proposal / presentation of a PhD student
- Presentations of PhD students with PPT should consume up to 20 min.
- Discussants stimulate discussion through a 5-10 min. comment on a PhD-student presentation (it is expected that discussants do not use PPT presentations)
- Keynotes are presentations of about 30-45 min. Keynotes are followed by discussion of all
- Exercises cover a broad range of possible elements to foster active participation of all attendees and to discuss topics like, for instance, advising politicians and officials on demographic change
